

BTEC Level 3 National Diploma in Sport

Why Btec Sport?

The Btec course is more practical and flexible than the A Level course and is the equivalent in size to three A-levels. Most units are coursework based, some units require you to complete work in controlled timed conditions and there are two written exams which are externally assessed.

What can I expect?

The Level 3 Btec qualification covers a broad basis of study for sport and physical activity development. Learners will study anatomy and physiology, sports leadership, sports psychology and fitness testing. Some of the lessons will be practically based working in the fitness suite or leading younger pupils whereas other lessons will be based in ICT rooms applying theory knowledge to sport and activity and writing up assignments.

What do I need?

At least a grade 4 in 5 GCSE's including 5 in English and Maths.

What about the future?

Btec Sport is intended to carry UCAS points and is recognised by Universities as contributing to meeting admission requirements for many courses. Btec Sport provides transferable knowledge and skills for University as well employability skills that can be applied to a wide range of jobs. It is best suited to learners who want to progress to higher education programmes in the sports and exercise science sector but will also suit learners who are interested in a career in sport and physical activity development.
