Post 18: BSc Nursing (Mental Health) at Coventry University

FUTURE FOCUS: I am currently doing a foundation course in Nursing and Allied Health Professions, and I am on track to move onto the full degree (Nursing – Mental Health) in September at Coventry. Coventry is the highest rated university for this course. My future goal is to graduate and go on to work in a high security unit such as Broadmoor or Rampton as a mental health nurse. I am really enjoying my experience of university so far and the independence this brings. Mental health can be distinctively complex, and for me, making a difference will be so rewarding.

MESSAGE TO STUDENTS: A Levels are hard and will challenge you, it is a lot of effort for three letters on a piece of paper at the end of the year, but putting in the hard work at the beginning will help you get to where you want to be, so keep hold of your vision and have passion! Explore your options. I originally explored the Navy Apprenticeships for Nursing, but then changed my mind ... And that's just fine!
